15 September 1958

Dear Diary,
 Today mum brushed my hair, so it was extra neat, because today the Governor General is coming and my whole school was excited, well apart from Dean because he doesn't like to clean and wear neat clothes. The Governor General gave us a speech on why the Snowy Mountains Scheme is so important. He said it will improve the country's electricity. After the speech the whole school had a giant morning tea. It was delicious. I even managed to talk to the Governor General that was really exciting, it made my day. At the end of the day he thanked all the people for having him and after the day I think it was worth wearing these wretched clothes and listening to the long speech.

Dear Diary,
 I am really excited because the Governor General is coming to our school because of the Snowy Mountains Scheme. I am really excited about that because my dad is working on the scheme. I wonder if he will mention him.

The whole school is going to have lunch with the Governor General once we have listened to his speech. I am actually quite excited because I will be able to watch my favourite show 'I Love Lucy' without being disturbed by the electricity going off.

15 September

Dear Diary,
 Yesterday our teacher said that the Governor General is coming to our school to announce the opening of the Snowy Mountain Scheme. Our teacher told us to look nice and presentable, we had to clean every little bit of the school and our classroom and then we had to make him feel welcome. Mother put my hair into a neat braid and there isn't a strand of hair sticking out! I want to meet the Governor General but he is only going to stay for 20 minutes. When he walked in everyone was silent, he kept talking about electricity and how it is going to help.

A NEWSLETTER LINKING BURNETT HEADS PRIMARY SCHOOL COMMUNITY
PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents and Guardians,
There is a good bit of sickness around at the moment and that combined with professional training has resulted in temporary staff changes in some classrooms. The curriculum continues to be taught while supply teachers replace regular classroom teachers.

School photos are tomorrow so if you are ordering photos but have not paid yet, tomorrow is the last day. Other arrangements could be made with the photographer.

This week is Coastal Sports Day which is a training run for Salters Oval, in which we compete against the larger local schools. It is always a good afternoon, but Burnett Heads is by far the smallest school competing, so it is not always a day brimming with wins. Parents are welcome to attend. The day starts at 12:00 and finishes by 2:30.

Our choir and band continue to prepare for the eisteddfod which is held the same week as Salter's Oval. This takes some commitment in practice and attendance, and I am impressed with the way most of our students are approaching these competitions.

The new covered court area is completed and now in use by the students. It is a very welcome addition to the school and there is a proposal to have electricity attached at some time in the future. We will have an opening celebration at some future time. Arrangements will be made in the future for families to access this area out of hours. The area remains locked at the same time as classrooms.

Regards
Pamela Liddell (Principal)
